ANNOUNCEMENTS

In Behalf of Hampton Institute. An interesting musicale is to be given at Slater Hall tonight in the interest of Hampton Institute.

General Samuel Chapman Armstrong began a Negro school, with two teachers and fifteen students of varying ages, in a plantation house and army barracks at Hampton nearly and army barracks at Hampton hearly nifty years ago.

Following a brilliant war record and the administration of a large territory at the close of the war, Armstrong chose to give his life to train leaders for a race. "We are here not merely to make students, but men and women; to build up character and it teachers and leaders," he said. For twenty years he worked unsparingly and unceasingly until the old mansion house where Hampton Institute began was surrounded by shops, dormitories, was surrounded by shops, dormitories, recitation halls; until he saw the Hampton idea. carried by his students and teachers, taking firm root throughout the South—at Tuskegee, at Calhoun, at Mt. Meigs, and in scores of houn, at Mt. Meigs, and in scores of communities near and far.

With shattered health, exhausted from years of pleading for Hampton, worn out before his time, Armstrong literally gave his life for an idea of education and human training, when he died in his prime twenty-odd years

The 150 buildings, the 1,000 acres of land, the course in 15 trades, in teaching and home-making, in business and farming, 900 students training for leadership are the phsical of Hampton.

Eight thousand men and women have gone out from Hampton into the South and West, trained in teaching. South and West, trained in teaching, trained in home-building, trained in trades. In taking their places in Negro industrial schools of the south and in hundreds of communities, this army of workers has helped to decrease the illiteracy of the negro from approximately 100 to 30 per cent.

Though Hampton outposts and graduales, the method of industrial training has become thoroughly established as the forentianal solution of a educational solution of a Humpton today has become the headquarters of an army of uplift. Its graduates take positions at stra-tegic points in leading the effort for better schools, better health, better farms and better homes. Girls, skill-ful as teachers and grounded in home ar's and home industries, go from Hampton to supervise the Negro schools of whole counties in southern states. Hampton literally re-con-structs communities through its in-dustrial missionaries.

DAVIS THEATRE

Three Big Keith Acts and Triangle Pictures.

For the first half of this week another big vaudeville show has been booked at the Davis theatre. No expense has been spared to make this show the banner bill of the season. The headline attraction is the big Keith novelty sckit called Memories, a beautiful singing act, presented by four young men who are singers and actors of the highest quality. The second act is Irving and Ward, two clever comedians who have been called the button-busters, because they make so many laughs with their funny dialogue. The third act is Kimball and Kennett, two clever banjo players in a novel musical offering. The Triangle feature picture is called The Sin Ye Do, with the celebrated character actor, Frank Keenan, starred. This is one of the strongest dramatic plays ever produced by the Triangle company. To complete the show there is a beautiful hand-colored Pathe film, Florence Rose's Latest Eachland Pathe film, Florence Rose's Latest Fashlons, and anyone desiring to secure any of the patterns shown can get the address from the management.
A Day of Sport will supply the com-edy on this bill and it is funny from start to finish.

THE BASS-CLEF CONCERT

DETENTION AS PRISONERS

OF NEUTRAL SAILORS The Subject of a Summary Issued by the German Admiralty.

Berlin, via London, Jan. 21 .- A sum-Berlin, via London, Jan. 21.—A summary of the German admiralty's official statement on the detention as prisoners of war of neutral sailors aboard armed merchantmen captured by the German naval forces was cabled to the state department at Washington by Ambassador Gerard last evening. This is the only information yet available regarding this development in naval procedure.

The German official circles profess to regard the case as affording an opportunity for negotiations looking to the settlement between America and to regard the case as affording an opportunity for negotiations looking to the settlement between America and Germany of the status of armed merchantmen. Since the men in question are safe and the case is not compilate and the case is not compilate adult arisen from the destruction of armed merchantmen by submarines, optimism over an amicable adjustment is expressed here.

Since the issuing of the German memorandum on armed merchantmen earlier in the war, German authorities have held that a ship which mounts guns, whether they be intended for defense or offense, loses its status as a private commercial craft and becomes a warship. Sailors taking service on such a ship, these authorities contend, lose their neutral status, just as if they had enlisted in the naval forces of a belligerent. Therefore, these sailors are liable to treatment as prisoners of war, it is held.

These grounds are set, forth in the second annex to the German prize code, which states explicitly that the forces of armed merchantmen which offer resistance to German naval forces shall be treated as war prisoners. Al-crews of armed merchantmen which offer resistance to German naval forces shall be treated as war prisoners. Al-though the memorandum and the prize code take this stand, the problem has been held in abeyance.

Of late, however, the armed merof late, however, the armed mer-chantmen issue has again become pressing, and the belief is growing that the government will take advan-tage of the situation created by the bringing into a German port of the prize ship Yarrowdale, with the crew held as prisoners of war, to bring the question to a head.

ITALIANS ARRESTED FOR SWINDLING IN FRANCE.

Ran a Bank Which, When Searched, Did Not Contain a Penny.

Paris, Jan. 21, 11 a. m.—An alleged swindle estimated by different newspapers as amounting from 3,000,000 to 10,000,000 francs was disclosed yesterday in the arrest of Philippe Simeoni, of Italian origin, and Prince Henride Broglie-Revel! M. Simeoni was accused in 1912 of swindling the German Prince Frederich Carl Zu Hohenlohe-Gehringen out of 500,000 francs. The case was settled out of court, but simeoni was sentenced to six months imprisonment for fraudulent bankruptcy. Afterwards he founded the Comptoir des Valeurs Industrielle, which was a stockbroking bank. Prince agent de Broglie-Revel was placed at the head of the institution as its president, Simeoni taking the title of manager.

At the outbreak of the war cus-tomers of the bank demanded their money. Simeoni pleaded the mora-torium and put the bank into liquidation, provoking many complaints, one of which alone alleges a claim of 1.600,-000 francs. The police report that not a sou remained in the bank when they searched it and that only a few hundred francs in notes were found in the possession of Simeoni at his home.

The Bass-Clef chib with Chas, Harrison, soloist, will be welcomed by a full house on Friday, the 26th. The enrollment of associate members has been unusually large and by Friday alght many seats in the annex will necessarily have been reserved. The men heartly appreciate the loyal interest which the public feels in these concerts while the public in return seems pleased to recognize the value of this organization. Such a spirit of cooperation cannot fail to bring about a much greater interest in much in our city and should lend to the *************
